Story of Savagery Graphically Developed
I. W. W.'s, other workers, preachers, lawyers, deputys, employers, Christian

On Tuesday, April 13th, the President of the United States greeted the workers of America, who, in the interests of justice and humanity, had struck to prevent the building of a million-dollar armory in Seattle. The President's address was received with enthusiasm by the working men of the city, who had been occupied in organizing a union to protect their rights and interests.

The workers had been subjected to violence and intimidation, but they had not given in. They were determined to stand up for their rights and their union. The President's address was a great encouragement to them, and they were resolved to carry on the struggle until they achieved their goal.

In the meantime, the workers were organizing and preparing for a strike. They were determined to fight for their rights and their union. The President's address was a great encouragement to them, and they were resolved to carry on the struggle until they achieved their goal.
The Real Murderers Are Exposed.

The printed plea for the conviction of Tom Mooney and the methods of prosecution relied on in the case were revealed in San Francisco last week. The methods of the assassins are revealed in a number of letters sent to Ed Riegar by Oxman, dated from the Terminal Hotel at San Francisco.

Another witness was needed to corroborate the perjury and legal murder is but one of the many lies the workers need to know. The Industrial Workers of the World are trying to educate the masses by having war the. workers everywhere are with us and the workers in this industry will bring the message of industrial unionism to every worker in America. EVEETT BUSINESS  WANTS MORE LOOT
By F. C. PAYNE.

There has been a substantial increase in the business of the town, and the business men are being taxed to the limit of their capacity. The various business men have been forced to take steps to meet the situation, and a number of them have organized to meet the situation.

There is a general feeling among the business men that there is a great deal of room for improvement in the town. They believe that the town is not doing all that it can to attract business and that they are being forced to compete with other towns for the business of the county.
