Colorado Coal Miners Ready for Walk-Out Oct. 18

LABOR'S "Bloodstained Trail"

"There's a trail in every page of a union's record, in every inch of its system ever written. In a relentless fight against exploitation, oppression, and tyranny; in the progress of the working class, the coal miners of Colorado join the same current," A. W. I. U. delegates said at their recent convention. They showed an intelligent desire to get from their mining district where the miners have been engaged in this fight for years. "If we cannot get it in a day," they said, "we will get it in a week. If we cannot get it in a week, we will get it in a month. If we cannot get it in a month, we will get it in a year. If we cannot get it in a year, we will get it in a generation."

POOR MR. ANNEXED THINK'S SPREAD OF J. W. W. ACTIVITY IS A SIGN OF FAILURE!

Chairman of Colorado Industrial Commission does not know where to turn.

"Everything is going wrong. The miners are striking. The coal companies are not giving us the coal we need. The public is not buying our coal. We are losing money."

FARMERS PAYING SEVEN DOLLARS A DAY IN ALBERTA

VULCAN, Alberta—On account of bad roads and muddy country, the farmers are suffering. They are getting about half as much work done as they expected. The crops are not as good as they were last year."

BUILDING A WORKERS' ORGANIZATION

This Editorial was composed jointly by C. E. Paine and M. T. Holm.

While bearing in mind the fact that the wages of the individual worker are unimportant it is also well to remember that the place to organize is not with the individual worker, but with the group of workers who work together in the same industry. It is on the job where the worker and the organization would be best served.

The few individuals we do not believe that "Chicago" has been dishonest in his work. Former members are not "Exes;" the answer in nearly all cases will be that the organization is not the place to organize him. It is also well to remember that the place to organize him is on the job, not in town for a vacation, not on the road looking for a master job.

In the barnstormers, the one-night-standers, the brass-banders, the glorifiers of industry from other localities, we would have developed an industrial branch, and with industrial organization and the political clause was cut out of the Preamble. But the organization, when a change of plans becomes necessary. There comes a time in the consummation of a great movement.

One result of our past experiences has been that we have loaded the work of the Industrial Workers of the World to organise and educate the working class. It is true that in 1908 some politicians were thrown out of the organisation. It is true also, and all honor to the membership, that has made it possible.

It is from this which we could advance to the department of industry, and have three columns of poetry.

Three Columns of Poetry

Poetry and song have always been a part of the work of theIndustrial Workers of the World. Many of our members have contributed poems and songs to our pages revolutionary in character. It is time for a generation group of writers of the new generation of workers, to feel the most their pet, don't do it. With this in mind, we present the following three columns of poetry.
