CALL U. S. STUPID

"There is something rotten there. Which has the heart of America," is widespread sentiment when the Sacco-Vanzetti case was made an immediate change in the way people saw America. It was not this case. The change in the image of America abroad is startling. Everyone felt the change. The shock of this case created an immediate change, and lifted the weariness and criticism with which Americans are usually seen everywhere. Everyone felt the change. How listing it will go to American "dignity" and the "per-go and other European leaders have been that Europeans were told to minwords of American statesmen of the 1840's, that pointed out, and some have reprinted the imagines it can deny liberty of comment, but a fraction of the general European statements are savage to the limit of the dictionary, but Communist agitation has been from Communist sources. Communist com-

BUFFALO WORKERS PREPARE FOR BIG MEMBERSHIP DRIVE

Time is Propitious for Renewed Activity in Great Lake Port. Speaker from Textile Workers, Presses Industrial Union.

Robert Workers General Secretary, well informed on these matters, who has been pressing pay rise, speeches, has been made at Tampa, Florida, and is preparing to make one that will be heard at Buffalo. The workers there, he said, are doing a splendid job. Field is a recent meeting, last night, 300 persons met and held a discussion, and by the end of the meeting 300 more had been added to the union. Over 2,000 and 500 reports have come from various companies, showing the strength of the Textile Workers Union. The local and the friends of the Buffalo union have been invited to meet the workers there.

We shall have to be in contact with the Textile Workers Union to know more about the situation. There is a great deal of interest in the union's work, and the workers are determined to make it a success.

COLORADO MINERS CALL FOR TEST OF STRENGTH OCT. 8

Success of I. W. W. in Colorado Would Have Exemplary Influence in Other Districts and Place the Movement on Solid Whole of Industry.

Denver in Colorado the same story. A meeting of representatives of the union was held in Denver and it was agreed to prepare for the meeting of the workers of the world to be held in St. Louis. The meeting was held on Sunday afternoon and was well attended. A number of the speakers were present, and the meeting was well conducted.

The conference was called to order and a vote was taken on the resolution, as a statement of the position of the I. W. W. on the question of the work of the union. It was passed unanimously, and the resolution was accepted as the official position of the union.

The conference was adjourned and the workers went to work to prepare for the meeting in St. Louis. They are determined to make it a success.

LUMBER WORKERS ASK WAGE RAISE; PROPOSE CHANGES

By CONFERENCE REPORTER

UNION. Oct. 8.—The conference at St. Louis which was met to consider the constitution and industrial proceedings of the I. W. W. has passed its first day. The conference has heard the report of the speaker and the resolutions which were proposed have been adopted. The conference has also heard the report of the speaker on the question of the work of the union.

In the "newest" of the "labor union" movement, there is much to be said for the union. In the "labor union" movement, there is much to be said for the union. There are many who believe that the union is the solution of the industrial problem, and that the union is the solution of the industrial problem.

INSTRUCTIONS TO COLORADO MINERS

When a striking company offers a wage raise to a union, the first thing that they ask for is a "fair" wage raise. The union then must agree to a "fair" wage raise. If the union does not agree to a "fair" wage raise, the company will not agree to a "fair" wage raise. If the union does not agree to a "fair" wage raise, the company will not agree to a "fair" wage raise.

The advantage of the union is that they can bargain for a "fair" wage raise for the workers. The advantage of the union is that they can bargain for a "fair" wage raise for the workers.

INDIVIDUAL EFFORT

An article by Fred Fishman

In America, perhaps more than anywhere else, the doctrine of "individuation" is stressed from generation to generation. Any school boy will tell you that he is supposed to be an individual. But for what reason? What is the "effort"? Surely that must be to remain shelter; they are stealing, begging or working.

They are standing or walking about impatiently. Some of them have been standing there for weeks, perhaps months, awaiting the chain gang. Each newcomer is looked up and down. People are astounded that they should be willing to go there. The black laws of the South, the Indian, the alien, the pauper, are exercising their "individual initiative;" they are using individual effort to snatch a job.

As regards the efforts being made to get the men out of the sheds and into the woods, we have the following situation: The employers disorganized, hence the press and pulpit strenuously teach "Individual effort" to triumph. It is in our masters' interests to have the workers disorganized. But what are the efforts of the workers? Probably the most important effort of the workers is their disorganization. The employer, on the one hand, and the worker, on the other, must fail. We learn also the habits and living habits make different tactics, inasmuch as differences in world outlooks are the basis of the charge.

The National Section of the Industrial Workers of the World has already passed the following resolution:

"Resolved that we recommend that all men and women be called to the Warsaw Convention of I. U. No. 120, the Spokane District All the old time depression in the woods and saw mills has been combated in a certain medium. Each convention is an attempt to build up self-reliant bodies of associations that can adjust themselves to the situation and the conditions and the habits of the workers."

In America, the I. W. W. must have action. Apathy and passivity will fail to build up self-reliant bodies of associations that can adjust themselves to the situation and the habits of the workers. We learn also the habits and living habits make different tactics, inasmuch as differences in world outlooks are the basis of the charge.

THE NEW RED HUNT IN AMERICA

By Social Service Bureau of the Industrial Federation for Social Service, New York City

The story of the labor movement in the United States is the story of the rising tide of the working class against the reaction of the ruling class. The workers have been fighting for their rights, and this struggle has been going on for a long time. In recent years, however, the tide has been turned, and the working class is now on the defensive. The workers have been forced to give up their gains, and they are now struggling to hold on to what they have.

The workers are now fighting against the employers, who are trying to break their unions and drive them back to the factories. The workers are fighting for their right to organize, and for their right to strike. They are fighting for their right to a fair deal, and for their right to be heard.

The workers are fighting for their right to a fair deal, and for their right to be heard.

WHY LUMBER WORKERS SHOULD DEMAND MORE WAGES

There are few explanations of the current high demand for labor in the lumber industry. The reason is that wages are too low to attract sufficient numbers of skilled workers. The result is that many jobs remain unfilled, and the companies are forced to hire inexperienced workers at low wages. This situation is further exacerbated by the fact that many workers are leaving the industry due to dissatisfaction with their working conditions.

We believe that the lumber companies should be paying at least twice their present wage rate to attract and retain skilled workers. This would not only ensure the continued operation of the industry, but would also benefit the workers themselves by providing them with a higher standard of living.

Let us work together to make the lumber industry a better place for all!
